

Management of traumatic patients

By : Professor M.R.Kalantar Moatamedi

Vascular surgeon chairman of Shohada Hospital Surgery Department.

In management of traumatic patient specially In cases of complex and hard injuries , the saving of patient's life is more important than diagnosis . on the other hand , in traumatic patient , despite the formal patients whom the most important factor in them is the diagnosis , the basic life support must be started and then we follow the diagnostic steps . So we need a suitable method which will be discussed later .

In this article we will talk about evacuation of casualties, the duties of medical personnel, basic life support, the emergency room duties and other items of war traumatic patients' management.